SUPPLY BEAR LOGISTICS

Privacy Policy

How Supply Bear Logistics collects, uses, and protects your information.

1. Commitment to Privacy

Supply Bear Logistics has created this privacy statement to demonstrate our firm commitment to user privacy. We strictly follow industry-standard practices to protect your personal and move-related data.

2. Information Collection and Use

Supply Bear Logistics is the sole owner of the information collected on this website. We do not sell, rent, share, or distribute your personally identifiable information to anyone outside the company or its authorized operational agents in any manner different from what is disclosed here. Information is collected at multiple points on our website to fulfil operational requests and tailor relocation services to your specific requirements.

3. Data Gathered and Service Inquiries

When you request a relocation quote, register an account, or submit contact forms, you may be asked to provide data including your name, email address, phone number, pickup and delivery addresses, inventory details, and preferred schedules. This information is used to coordinate packing, transit, tracking, and delivery updates.

4. Communications and Marketing

By submitting your personal details, you authorize us to send transactional and billing updates, booking confirmations, and service promotional reminders through calls, SMS, email, or WhatsApp. You may request removal from general mailing or text lists at any time by contacting customer support.

5. Website Security and Disclaimers

Our systems employ technical and administrative safeguards to defend against unauthorized data modification, loss, or intrusion. While we protect data collected through official channels, this website may contain links to external platforms. Supply Bear Logistics is not responsible for the content or independent privacy practices of those third-party websites.
